

Program Description

Change Management/Empowerment

Embracing Change from The Mountaintop

In this relevant and engaging presentation, Jeff Davis skillfully lays out the ways in which change can be successfully implemented within an organization. Jeff shares extremely powerful and useful tips taken from his experience facilitating various group changes. In a world where change is occurring at dizzying rates, this program is needed now more than ever. Key areas covered include:

- The difference between positive and negative change and why most change is positive
- Key elements of the change process members need to understand
- How to navigate through the change process while keeping up to speed
- Ways to use change as a growth opportunity and ensure ongoing productivity

Many organizations today were never taught proper ways to embrace, facilitate, and sustain positive changes. Employees often want to run with new changes but simply do not know how. Jeff believes that change is both a vital and necessary aspect of every growing business. In this dynamic presentation, Jeff lays out key elements of the change process. He also discusses common challenges to change and how these obstacles can be both avoided and worked through. Ultimately, embracing change will become one of the key characteristics of your organization.

Value to Participants: Members will walk away with relevant strategies designed to help them embrace, sustain, and master change. They will know what needs to be done to successfully begin, maintain, and end a change process. Members are taught mindsets and action-steps useful for working through difficult challenges. They are also given ways to follow-up on the change process and promote continuous growth within themselves and the organization. This is a program that will enable participants to flourish for years to come.

Biography: Jeff Davis, Professional Speaker, Author, and Master Strategist – is Chairman and CEO of Jeff Davis International, based in Newtown, Connecticut. Jeff shows that any organization can embrace and run with change if they so desire. Through his programs Jeff teaches his clients the steps they need to know in order to excel with difficult changes. After graduating with his Master's degree from Johns Hopkins University, Jeff went on to become a speaker, writer, marketer, analyst, change specialist, and philanthropist. Although Jeff's list of accomplishments are growing at a high rate, his ability to coach organizations to better deal with demanding changes is what makes him happy. Jeff is always learning more, constantly reading and researching the ins and outs of change management while actively growing every single day. He is extremely excited to work with you and your group.
