

Program Description

Travel/Finance/Motivation

Travel the World on a Budget and Do the Improbable

In this dynamic, engaging, and story-based presentation, Jeff Davis discusses ways in which you can further explore your city, state, country, and world. Taken from Jeff's experiences living overseas and traveling the world, he shows that nearly anything is possible. There is no greater bliss than the spontaneity of travel. He is living proof that there are no barriers or limits other than the ones you place in your own mind. Key areas include:

- Ways in which you can save money for your next adventure
- Why you don't need to wait to travel and how to save money on the road
- What to do when unexpected and unplanned events occur while traveling
- Tips and tricks related to budgeting while you travel your country and world
- Easy ways to meet others when you are in new places (or at home)
- How to create the best and most memorable travel experience for yourself and others
- Strategies to engage in micro-adventures if you cannot travel to distant places

Jeff knows most obstacles to traveling the world are internal – the best trip of your life is only a few clicks away. Yes, there are financial obstacles to overcome, but Jeff can show you some time-tested budgeting strategies that he learned while on the road and while receiving his Master of Science in Finance from Johns Hopkins Graduate School of Business. This presentation will show you simple steps that you can take to embark on an adventure you will never forget.

Value to Participants: Jeff will empower members to look for and find travel opportunities. Members will understand and implement the numerous ways to create and discover life-changing travel opportunities, whether they want to go overseas, stay in their country, or even just further explore their hometown. They will learn how to engage in budget travel strategies while meeting people in creative ways. They will also be taught all of the life lessons Jeff learned from his travels.

Biography: Jeff Davis, Professional Speaker, Author, and Master Strategist – is Chairman and CEO of Jeff Davis International, based in Newtown, Connecticut. Jeff has lived abroad for a year and has traveled all over the world (so far he's been to 51 countries across 5 different continents). Though his travel feats are growing more and more, his ability to inspire others to fearlessly travel is what has the world taking note. He also shares a great deal of practical information. Jeff has read many travel books and connected with tens of thousands of fellow world travelers – he knows what it takes to create an awesome adventure. He is excited to work with you and your group.