Activating The Power of Authentic Leadership

In this encouraging, purposeful, practical, and high-energy presentation, Jeff Davis shares powerful, easy-to-implement techniques and knowledge taken from his experience as a corporate specialist and team leader to specifically outline ways to become a better leader. Key areas covered include:

- What it really means to lead with integrity and courage
- The dos and don'ts of true leadership
- Ways to confidently inspire others and be a great example
- How to continue to lead when times are tough and colleagues are difficult
- Tricks, tools, and strategies to lead with continuous and unlimited power
- The strategies, mindsets, and behaviors of the best leaders
- How to empower and influence others
- What to do when the chips are down, times are tough, and things are uncertain
- The keys to building, empowering, and leading effective teams

Leadership is not about having the most followers, it is about creating leaders in others. Reaching your leadership Mountaintop is about inspiring others and acting with truth and integrity regardless of the circumstances. Employees want to be recognized, and even more than that employees want to learn how to become empowered. Jeff will show others how to become leaders both in their job duties and across their organization, seeing results faster than they may have realized could occur. This presentation will teach working professionals to continuously build, grow, and lead without a title, even while facing unexpected circumstances.

Value to Participants: Members will now possess the ability to measure and sustain their leadership progress every day, week, month, and year. They will also be able to implement practical strategies into their daily work lives in an easy-to-apply routine so that they may better lead and inspire others. As a result, they will begin to see increased cooperation across their organization and become an example for others. Your organization will see improved results, have effective teams, and reach the next level of leadership prowess. The return on investment, including a better bottom line, lasts for decades.
